

The Gap that makes us desperate (Mayo 2014)

Preguntas de examen

1. What is the aim of this research?
2. What are the contributions of the writing paradigm and multiple code theory to the topic of this study?
3. How is language use related to alexithymia?
4. Explain Simsek's theoretical formulation that links language to the construction of the concept of the self. Why is this theory relevant in the present study?
5. What is the relationship between knowledge of the self and mental problems such as anxiety, depression, and alexithymia?
6. What is the difference between the two competing models that are referred to in this research?
7. Describe the main points about the participants, how the data was collected and one of the instruments used.
8. Summarize the most important findings and some of their corresponding generalizations.
9. Explain the implication for clinical practice pointed out by the authors.
10. Describe the limitations of the study.